

EMPIRICAL DATABASE ACCESS ADJUSTMENT

Abstract of the Disclosure

Computer implemented methods, apparatus, and computer-readable media for empirically adjusting access to a database (1). An apparatus embodiment comprises: coupled to the database (1), a database discovery module (11) for determining authorized accesses to the database (1); coupled to the database (1), a command monitoring module (12) for monitoring actual accesses to the database (1); and coupled to the database discovery module (11) and to the command monitoring module (12), an analysis module (13) for comparing actual accesses with authorized accesses.

20423/08590/DOCS/1416795.1